Continuation of 3. NOTE: Independent claim 26 adds new limitations which were not previously considered, and therefore would require further consideration and/or search. In addition, Examiner disagrees with attorney's statement that examiner indicated all claims would be allowable if claim 26 would be amended; as noted in the advisory action sent 06/19/06, independent claims still recite "from a particular caller OR or a group of caller" which is not allowable and explained below.

The prior art of record, Tatchell, reads on the claims as currently recited. More specifically, even though Tatchell alone does not read on the limitation of "...from a particular caller", Tatchell does read on the alternative limitation when read as "..a group of callers". Tatchell's system automatically sends a notification upon satisfaction of a particular event based on receipt of the second call from a group of callers within a predetermined range of time. The 'group of callers' is broad enough to read on just two different callers. See Tatchell col.20 lines 25-54. Furthermore, Tatchell uses the term "calls" in col.20 line 25 which means his system notifies even after the first received call, which is 'at least two telephone calls'. This interpretation allows the examiner to use Tatchell to read on the claims until further amendment is made.

Regarding the 103 Swartz arguments, it is noted that Swartz and Tatchell both teach notifying a subscriber based on satisfaction of events in a user defined table and therefore further strenghtens examiner's 103 rejection and it's prima facie establishment along with the reasons previously cited in the office action.
